9.30-10.30	JEN MCARTHUR (PLENARY) Making Soft Skills Less Squishy The term "soft skills" was reportedly coined by the U.S. Army in the mid-20 th century to describe any skill that didn't include military hardware or machinery. Now it is used everywhere, by everyone, and all at once, especially in business and management, but also in our world of education and language teaching. But what exactly do we mean when we talk about soft skills? Perhaps everything in ELT is a soft skill? If so, haven't we been doing this all along? This session will explore the idea of soft skills, how/whether this is a useful concept in the language classroom, and what we might do about it.
